MacArthur Denies Political Intention as He Leaves Frisco

THOUSANDS JAM THE streets as Gen. Douglas MacArthur (arrow) leads a motorcade in his honor through downtown San Francisco. An estimated 500,000 persons turned out to cheer the 71-year-old Far East veteran. (International Soundphoto)

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur mixed an old-fashioned disclaimer of political ambitions today with his call for all-out efforts to defeat the Communists who threaten world peace.

MacArthur, who winged his way into Washington in the small hours of the morning to a vociferous welcome, outlined to Congress at 12:30 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, his theory of how to win the war in Korea and prevent the Reds from grabbing all of Asia.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney,

the general's adviser, told newsmen in advance the speech will be a "general review of the Far Eastern situation" which might go back "half a century".

Asked whether the State or Defense Departments had asked to clear the speech, Whitney replied:
"Quote no comment unquote".

Despite the death last night of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), chief congressional architect of the bipartisan foreign policy, Senate and House leaders planned to hear MacArthur on schedule.

There was little doubt in anybody's mind the five-star general, deposed from his Pacific commands by President Truman, would pause in his formal address to pay tribute to the veteran Republican who had insisted that there never was any real two-party cooperation on Far Eastern policies.

With the solemnity of a requiem, MacArthur was privileged to say that just as Vandenberg differed with the policies of Mr. Truman and Secretary of State Acheson in the Orient, so has he.

Nevertheless, Vandenberg's death in his home city of Grand Rapids, Mich., put something of a damper on what was billed as the greatest homecoming Washington ever gave a war hero.

The general's silvery Constellation plane, quickly renamed the Bataan after his removal as SCAP commander, landed at Washington National Airport at 12:31 A. M., EST.

Army, navy, air force and marines brass were present to greet him in such depth that Maj. Gen.

Career Day Set For High School

Students Get Chance
To Discuss Future

If the choices of high school youngsters at Washington C. H.
High School for Career Day are any indication there should be plenty of nurses and farmers in the years to come.

More than 100 girls marked down nursing as their choice of profession while 100 boys listed farming as their main interest.

Each of the 550 boys and girls in grades nine through 12 at the high school listed at least two choices for either professions and occupations and will have an opportunity on Career Day, next Tuesday afternoon, to hear about them.

There will be representatives of almost 40 vocations in Washington
C. H. and nearby areas who will meet with the students to help guide them in their selection of trades, vocations or professions.

Principal Arthur Wohlers, who is setting up the second annual Career Day, said the adults were meeting with the youths "to share with them some of life's rich experiences that they will be more qualified to make plans for years to come."

The consultants will generally have two discussion periods during which they will meet with the students interested in their vocations or professions. The first will be held from 1:55 to 2:50 P. M. and the other from 2:55 to 3:35 P. M. on Tuesday.

May Ask Questions

Students will be given ample opportunity to ask questions of the consultants, and, in some cases, will be taken directly to the office, shop or industry to observe at first-hand what the position entails.

Some 20 youths interested in medicine will be taken to the offices of Drs. A. D. and Robert Woodmansee while several girls interested in nursing will spend the afternoon at Memorial Hospital as guests of the Fayette County Nurses Association.

Youths interested in becoming mechanics will go to the Geringer Manufacturing Co. on Lewis Street while one youth who would like to be a telephone worker will go to the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. equipment room.

With talk of drafting youths fresh out of high school, a large group of boys will meet with navy and army recruiters to talk over service in the armed forces. There are 52 boys who have indicated an interest in meeting with service representatives.

One girl will talk with Cpl.

No Chances Taken Now By News Photographers

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—Apparently remembering Pearl Harbor, some news photographers were football headgears when Gen. Douglas Mac-Arthur arrived here today.

In Hawaii, photographers complained they were "roughed up" by military police assigned to guard the general on his arrival there.

There were no complaints of any such incident here.

Sen. Vandenberg Called by Death

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 19—(AP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, one of the United States' most respected statesmen, is dead at 67.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg

The Michigan Republican, a foreign policy expert whose advice and leadership were sought by the heads of both major parties, died last night in his sleep after several years of illness. He had undergone several major operations in the last two years.

Vandenberg's death at his home here meant the loss of one of the founders of the United Nations and one of Congress' foremost advocates of a bi-partisan, unified foreign policy in the cold war with Russia.

It also undoubtedly meant a gain for the Democrats in the Senate. It falls to Michigan's Democratic governor, Gen. Mennen Williams, to name a successor to Vandenberg, whose distinguished career spanned 23 years in Congress.

Williams reportedly has four possibilities in mind—former U. S.
Sen. Prentiss M. Brown, University of Michigan Law Professor John Dawson, former Michigan
Attorney General Stephen J. Roth, and Noel P. Fox, head of the Michigan Labor Relations Board.

With Vandenberg's death the Democratic majority in the Senate became 49 to 46. The expected Democratic appointment will make it 50 to 46.

Funeral services for Sen. Vandenberg will be held at 2 P. M.
Saturday from the Park Congregational Church here. The Rev.

Four-point Plan For Korea War Given Congress

Views Were Shared
By U. S. Military Leaders, He Says

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—
Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today his views on the Far East
"have been fully shared by practically every military leader" including the U. S. joint chiefs of staff.

This assertion by the deposed Far Eastern commander in an address to Congress brought a storm of applause with Republican members standing and cheering.
MacArthur was interrupted for nearly a minute.

He had previously restated the four points of his strategic policy for the Orient. They were, he said:

1. An economic blockade of China.
2. A naval blockade of the China coast.
3. Removal of the restrictions on aerial reconnaissance over China.
4. A removal of the restrictions on the ground forces of Nationalist China "with logistical support from us."

This last meant using the Nationalist troops of Chiang Kai Shek with the United States furnishing supplies.

Cheering halted him briefly when he came to both the second and third points.

MacArthur said of his policy
"for this I have been severely criticized in many quarters, principally abroad." But, he said, he had never heard any criticism of these views from "responsible military authorities, including our own joint chiefs of staff."

MacArthur said he had called for reinforcements in Korea but was informed they were not available. He said he had warned that unless permission was granted to bomb Manchurian bases, blockade the China coast and use Nationalist forces on Formosa the position of his command "forbade victory" in Korea.

bluntly, MacArthur said the intervention of the Chinese Communists in the Korean fighting had called for "realistic adjustment of military strategy and such decisions have not been forthcoming."

MacArthur said he was not consulted in advance on the sending of American troops into Korea, but the move "proved to be a sound one."

His voice rising in vibrancy, MacArthur told Congress "we could hold in Korea by constant maneuver . . . but we could hope at best for only an indecisive campaign."

Those who would appease Red China "are blind," MacArthur said.

He declared Soviet Russia would not necessarily mesh her power with Red China if the United Nations forces carried the war further. Any new enemy, he said, will strike only if it feels the balance is in her favor on a world scale.

He had declared earlier that Formosa must not be allowed to fall into enemy hands.

It is part of an island arc, he said, from which U. S. air and sea power can control the Pacific and maintain it as a protective "moat" for all the Americas.

MacArthur concluded with a recollection of the old soldier ballad "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away."

He said he was closing out 52 years of military service with that ballad in mind.

"I now close my military career and just fade away," he said dramatically. "An old soldier who tried to do his duty as God gave him the light to see that duty."

His address lasted just 36 minutes.

Freedom of Press Sought by Editors

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)— Four hundred editors met today to draw new battle lines in defense of freedom of the press against censorship and news suppression.

President Dwight Young cautioned the American Society of Newspaper Editors that an outcropping of "would-be dictators" in the federal, state and local governments has become a homefront menace.

Even the hero of the hour, Gen.
Douglas MacArthur, was to come under the editors' scrutiny. They have invited Keyes Beech, Chicago Daily News correspondent, to describe his publicized tiff with MacArthur's Tokyo's headquarters.

MacArthur himself was expected to visit the editors, after his address to Congress.

Meanderings By Wash Fayette

On my desk this noon when I returned from lunch, I found the first copy of The Citizen Journal, a weekly newspaper which "comes out every Sat." It is published, or printed out in longhand, by David Korn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Korn of 323 Gregg Street.

I am greatly honored to have received the very first copy of this newspaper, and it comes as the result of a conducted tour I gave David recently of the Record-Herald plant.

After checking over your first edition very carefully, David, I find that you have completed a credible job. As examples in the newspaper, I found a story about General MacArthur returning to the United States which read "President Truman awaits his arrival as he reads a book on another president who had trouble with a general, Abraham Lincoln and one of his generals."

Sports are covered with large letter headlines reading "Red Legs Beat by Chicago Team, 8-3."

Another important feature of David's paper is "Your Favorite Stories" which stars "Burt Adams in the case of Robbery and Death." Johnny Leland is the author of this series, which we found to be

The "Children's section" is another popular feature of the newspaper. We note that "Howdy Doody" and his TV show comes in for major interest for the younger set. Another serial story entitled "The Tenderfoot" and written by David, is found to be extremely interesting. It also is to be continued in the next edition.

In the newspaper, are the TV program listings for the youngsters' favorite programs, as well as an advertisement for young David's father's business.

You have the right idea, David, no newspaper can exist without advertisements, and your dad's business is a good place to start.

Now, David, if you keep your present interest in the publishing of a newspaper, you'll go places in later life. Many of the good newspapermen of today, and there are several good ones, received their start with just such an interest as you are showing. Keep up your interest, David, and someday you'll enjoy the fruits of this life, which we in the newspaper industry hold above all others.

Vast Area Is Flooded By Mississippi River

(By The Associated Press)
The rising Mississippi River forced more families from their homes today while workers built barricades against the muddy waters.

Forty families have been evacuated in Dubuque, Ia., where the overflow spread over a three block area. The river there already was 3.3 feet above flood stage, and the crest was expected early next week.

Downstream, at Rock Island, Ill., scores of factory hands and others filled sandbags. The city abandoned garbage and trash collections so all city trucks could be used to haul sand.

Families began leaving their homes in the western section of Rock Island. Across the river in Davenport, Ia., nearly 100 families had moved.

Levees Sandbagged

Workers sandbagged the levee in East Dubuque, Ill., and residents were alerted to be ready to evacuate. At Sabula, Ia., workers sandbagged a 5,000-foot dike that protects the town of 800 population.

The highest crest in history—18.5 feet—was expected in the area of the quad cities of Illinois-Iowa about Tuesday. Officials in Davenport, Ia., estimated 300 families will have to be evacuated.
Precautions were being taken in Rock Island, Moline and East Moline, Ill.

The National Guard at Des Moines said 300 sandbags had been sent to Clinton, Ia. The Red Cross sent cots and blankets to Galena, Ill., for use if the river floods that community of some 4,000.

The Mississippi crested almost three feet above flood level yesterday at La Crosse, Wis., where some 1,500 persons have been forced from their homes and another 1,000 were in homes surrounded by water. At Prairie Du Chien, Wis., a crest of about 22 feet—four feet above flood level—was expected Saturday. About 150 families already have been evacuated.

The mighty river's level was steady in most of Minnesota.

Pay Kickback To Rep. Brehm Is Described

BY FRED HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—
The government called two grown children of Mrs. Clara Soliday into federal court today to bolster its charges that Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R-Ohio) received illegal campaign contributions from their mother.

Scheduled to testify for the prosecution in Brehm's trial are Ray Soliday, Mrs. Soliday's son, and Mrs. Margaret Hiser, her daughter.

Brehm, now serving his fifth consecutive term in Congress, is charged with unlawfully accepting $1,380 in campaign contributions from Mrs. Soliday and Mrs.
Emma S. Craven of Washington while they worked in his office in 1947 and 1948. He has pleaded innocent.

Mrs. Soliday, a small, gray woman, spent nearly three hours on the witness stand yesterday.

She testified she went to work for Brehm in January 1945 and that she turned back to him part of her salary every month for the next three years, until she left his employ in January 1948. She said she did not know what the money was used for.

Mrs. Soliday said she felt "from the first" it was wrong to pay back part of her salary to Brehm,
"but that was the stipulation I was hired under."

Hope for Submarine Virtually Given Up

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., April 19
—(AP)—A rescue ship made contact today with an object which might be the submarine Affray, trapped on the bottom of the English channel, but the admiralty said it had little hope any of the 75 officers and men aboard were still alive.

A diver was sent to the bottom to find out whether the object found by sound wave contact might be the submarine, which became stuck under 193 feet of water after a practice dive Monday night. The point was about four and a half miles southwest of where the Affray should have submerged—about a mile off her course.

I. J. Callaghan, parliamentary secretary of the British admiralty, announced this, but said at the same time "hopes that any lives will now be saved are dwindling."

Hike Recommended In Lausche's Budget

COLUMBUS, April 19—(AP)—
The state Senate votes today on a bill to halt a basketball fix before it happens.

The measure simply is an extension of Ohio's sports bribery law. Present law applies only to professional sports. The bill up for Senate vote extends the law to amateurs.

And, while present law applies only to the fixer and the fixed where there is an agreement to "throw" a game, the bill sponsored by Sen. Anthony J. Celebrezze (D-Cleveland) hits at agreements to limit the margin of victory.

This is the "point-spread" basis for wagering on basketball games—the kind of bribery which has resulted in the recent New York basketball scandals.

House committees yesterday recommended passage of two major money bills. One increases
Gov. Frank J. Lausche's budget by about $3,156,000 for operation of the state government for the next two years. The other raises the money to cover the budget boost.

The money-raising bill is the Senate-approved measure by Sen.
C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens).
It seeks to bring an estimated $20,000,000 additional each year into the state coffers.

Principal increase in the bill above the governor's estimate is an additional $3,500,000 for the school foundation fund in the next two years.

Everything counted in, House Republicans figure on boosting the state subsidy to the school foundation fund by $16,500,000 in the next two years over what the schools actually received from the state in the last two years.

Dick Contino Gives Version

LOS ANGELES, April 19—(AP)— Dick Contino, 21, $4,000-a-week acordionist arrested as a draft evader, says he ran away from an army camp because a doctor threatened "to throw me in the guardhouse."

Contino was arraigned yesterday on a charge of failure to report for induction and released on $5,000 bond.

"For eight hours I was examined by army doctors at Fort Ord," he said. "This experience unnerved me. I became irritable. Suddenly something snapped and I shouted, 'let me out of here. Let me out of here.'"

"A doctor said, 'if you don't quiet down, I'm going to call the MPs and have you put in the guardhouse.'"

"The fear of being put behind bars in a cell was more than I could bear."

Policies for Far East Are Outlined

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—
The administration has laid down a three point "program of action" designed to combat Communism in Asia and protect the Pacific islands.

The plan was outlined in part yesterday by President Truman.
In filling in detail last night, Secretary of State Acheson urged the nation to "hold a steadfast course in Korea" and steer clear of any idea of extending the conflict there.

Acheson made this plea on the eve of the arrival here of Gen.
Douglas MacArthur. MacArthur was relieved of his Pacific commands when the president decided the general's policy views were not in accord with his own.
MacArthur favored air strikes at Communist installations and supply lines in Manchuria, and the use of Chinese Nationalist troops against the Chinese Reds. Mr.

Truman and his advisers contended these moves might touch off World War III.

Acheson said last night, in a speech to the Women's National Press Club, if there is any widespread opinion among the people

trap United Nations troops in the Pukhan River gorge.

Allies found eight of the dam's 18 floodgates still open. An American officer said the machinery that operates the gates appeared unworkable. He said he couldn't understand how the Chinese had opened the gates. It seemed impossible now to close them.

The dam is 890 feet long and 250 feet high. It backs up water for 11 miles, and once a major source of power for Seoul.

The slow, deliberate UN drive appeared to be nearing the line between Chorwon and Kumhwa, 14 miles northeast. Behind it, the Reds were believed to have massed 600,000 men for an expected spring drive.

A U. S. Eighth Army communique Wednesday indicated the Allies were having trouble finding the Reds at most places. It said Allied patrols in central Korea were trying "to fix the position of an elusive enemy."

Red casualties Wednesday totaled only 445, about half the usual daily score, indicating little action.
A South Korean force on the east coast moved 28 miles north of the Red border before it met Red opposition.

AMERICANS WARNED

SENDAL, Japan, April 19—(AP)—
Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, United Nations commander, today told American troops newly arrived in Japan, "We stand under the imminent threat of war."

On his first inspection trip as supreme commander, Ridgway told the 223rd Regiment of California's newly arrived 40th Division:

"To all intents and purposes you're here in war."
"We stand under the imminent threat of war which can be unleashed at the time and place of choosing of other people . . ."

"However good you think you are, and I know you are good, you've got a long way to go to reach the standard of veteran (American) seasoned combat troops who are just across the water. I am confident you'll use every minute of the time you've got because you don't know and I don't know when the chips will be down."

Acheson said last night, in a speech to the Women's National Press Club, if there is any widespread opinion among the people

Flier To Return From Korea War

Capt. W. C. Miller
Coming in Friday

Capt. William C. Miller, Jr., is coming home from the war in Korea.

The Washington C. H. fighter plane pilot who has won acclaim for his daring attacks on the Red hordes and convoys in the Far East is expected to land at the Wright-Patterson Field airport sometime Friday, probably in the morning, according to word just received by his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Miller, Sr., 1025 Briar Avenue.

Capt. Miller, who made the trip back home across the Pacific by plane, is now in California. When he called his family, he said he did not think he could get an east-bound plane until sometime late Thursday night.

Capt. Miller served through the second World War as a fighter pilot in the European theater.

After the war, he remained in the Air Force and was assigned to the Philippines.

This will be his first time at home in more than three years, his mother said.

His wife and little daughter were with him for a time in the Philippines, but they returned here about a year ago.

He sent his family word just before the Reds invaded South Korea that he expected to be transferred to duty in the United States. But, when hostilities flared on a big scale in Korea, Capt. Miller remained in the Far East to help carry the fight to the invaders from the north, through the air.

His family here said it was understood that Capt. Miller probably now would be assigned to the Air Force base at Austin, Texas, to help train air cadets and study jet plane flying.

Although he flew "most any kind of plane" in his combat missions over Korea, his mother said, his experience with the jets has been largely limited to flying them unofficially on his own time off.

Wayne Senior Play To Be Given Apr. 27

Tickets for the senior class play at Good Hope are to go on sale next Tuesday at the high school. Supt. Harold Thomas said, as emphasized that it would be presented in Wayne Hall on Friday, April 27, and not next Friday, April 20.

All the seats are to be reserved and no advance sale has been pressed by the students, the superintendent said.

Wayne Hall will seat between 250 and 260 and Supt. Thomas said a capacity audience was expected. He suggested, "Don't wait until the last minute to get your tickets, for they may all be gone."

The sophomore class is to serve a chicken dinner from 6 P. M. until 8 P. M. preceding the senior play.

The seniors and their advisors selected "Darling Brats" for this year's play.

Double Funeral Rites Held for Couple Here

Funeral services for Mrs. Ruth Virginia and Allen Woodrow Howland, who were involved in a murder and suicide in Springfield Saturday, were held at the Gregg Street Church of Christ in Christian Union Church at 2 P. M. Wednesday.

Rev. Russell Knisley read the Scripture, offered prayer, delivered the sermon and read two personal tributes.

Mrs. Wilbur Knisley, Mrs. Kenneth Bonecutter and Mrs. Dorothy Knisley sang the hymns, "Jesus Always There," "Farther Along" and "Beyond the Sunset." Mrs. Wilbur Knisley played the processional and recessional on the piano.

Pallbearers who took care of the flowers were Tommy Myers, Frank Elzey, Robert Myers, Willard Howe, Harry Howe, Franklin Howe, Robert Howland, Don Howland, Richard Howland, John Reese, Andrew Beverly and John Denney.

Burial was made in the Washington Cemetery under the direction of the Parrett Funeral Home.

Frank Schreckengaust Succumbs in Hospital

Frank Schreckengaust, 53, of Bell Avenue, died at 8:45 o'clock Thursday morning at University Hospital in Columbus, where he had been a patient for three days. He had been in failing health for the past two years.

Born in Hocking County Aug. 2, 1897, he spent most of his life in Fayette County as a farm laborer. Survivors include one son, Richard of South Charleston; three daughters, Mrs. Elsa Nelson and Mrs. Jesse Reese, both of Washington C. H., and Mrs. Mary Timmons of Mt. Sterling; a sister, Mrs. Anna Lewis of Marion; one brother, Charles Schreckengaust of Clyde and two half brothers, Byron of Massieville and Isaac of Circleville.

Funeral services will be held at 2 P. M. Saturday at the Gregg Street Church of Christ in Christian Union, with Rev. Russell Knisley in charge.

Friends may call at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home after noon Friday.

Harry C. Flee Dies After Long Illness

Harry G. Flee, 71, died at 12:35 P. M. Thursday at Memorial Hospital here following more than two years of failing health.

He entered the hospital last Monday noon in a critical condition.

Mr. Flee was a native of Ross County, but came to Washington C. H. when a small boy and has lived here ever since.

He was formerly connected with the Willis Lumber Co. and later became proprietor of the Millwood Grocery. During his later life he was with the State Highway Department, but retired when his health began to fail.

He was a member of Grace Methodist Church and active in its affairs as long as his health permitted.

He is survived by his widow and three sons, Carroll of Akron and Russell and Robert of Cincinnati. He had six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. He also leaves three step-sons, Harold and Robert Jenkins of Washington C. H. and Elton Jenkins of Marion.

He had two brothers, John of Indianapolis and Harley of Washington C. H. and two sisters Mrs. Mary Ruly and Mrs. Mabel Judy, both of whom live here.

Funeral services are to be held at 2 P. M. Saturday at the Gerstner Funeral Home. Interment is to be in the family lot in the Washington Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after noon Friday.

Mrs. Nancy Hause Dies in Hospital

Mrs. Nancy Lavada Hause, 70, of 721 Gregg Street, died Wednesday afternoon in University Hospital in Columbus.

She had been in failing health for sometime. Born in Ross County, she lived in Washington C. H. for 40 years.

She is survived by her husband, Robert Hause; one son, Clarence Brown of Lexington, Ky. and one daughter Ina Adams of Seaman; one brother Ernest Francis of Columbus; 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10 A. M. Saturday at the Gregg Street Church of Christ in Christian Union, with Rev. Russell Knisley in charge.

Burial will be made in the Washington Cemetery under the direction of the Parrett Funeral Home.

Friends may call at the funeral home until the time for the services.

Far East Policies

ing of the Korean fighting the Kremlin and Red China must be held responsible.

"The American people will never choose this course," he declared. "They will not fall into the trap of seeming to choose it." Without direct criticism of the deposed Far East commander or his proposals Acheson declared that to extend the fighting would "gravely imperil world peace."

The projected Far Eastern program called for:

1. A probable defense "arrangement" among the U. S., Australia and New Zealand. Mr. Truman announced in a statement that he directed Acheson, Secretary of Defense Marshall and Ambassador John Foster Dulles to continue negotiations in this direction while working out a Japanese peace treaty.

2. Increased efforts to help Asian countries strengthen their independence and achieve relief from poverty, by such means as Marshall Plan aid, technical assistance and the emergency wheat shipment to India. Acheson forecast that Congress soon will be asked to approve other measures, which he did not explain.

3. Continuing determination to punish aggression in Korea. Acheson said the Communists already have been blocked in their drive for a quick victory there.

Grain Market

CHICAGO, April 19.—(P)—A little strength developed in wheat on the Board of Trade today, but otherwise the market mainly drifted aimlessly.

Export buying supported wheat, reflecting sales of the bread grain to both Great Britain and Holland. Great Britain also bought some corn. Concern over the winter wheat crop also created some buying.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, loss of energy, headaches and dizziness. Don't suffer longer with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—do so to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. While often otherwise caused, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Financial Market

NEW YORK, April 19.—(P)—Light selling kept the stock market from making any progress today, and prices declined.

Losses went to around $1.50 a share at the most. The bulk of the set-back was measured in cents. For a few minutes after the opening, the market had a higher look, but this soon changed to mixed and then definitely lower. Quotations backed away slowly from that point on.

MacArthur's Return and American Spirit

The American spirit is not dead, nor will it die.

Neither will "gag" rule be tolerated in this great nation of free-thinking people. They reserve the right for free expression of their feelings.

The tumultuous and triumphal return of General MacArthur to this country from the war in Asia, is significant and important.

It is devoutly to be hoped that all this excitement will be turned in the right direction, that calm and orderly procedure will be maintained without any unfortunate incident from the explosive nature of American thinking at this time.

The dismissal of MacArthur by President Truman which has aroused the ire of a majority of the American people, probably would not have caused such an outburst had it not been for the fact that this was just another of those acts for which the "inner circle" of the national administration has been responsible, acts which, week by week, have met with mounting revulsion among the people.

The president had the right and the power to relieve MacArthur of his command. The thinking public will not deny this, but the people of the country are suspicious of the motives behind the move and are even more suspicious of the purposes of the group which appears in control of our state department. This group appears able to direct the actions of a president who has proven weak and wavering in matters of statecraft.

It would be best for all if the MacArthur return to this nation today is made more the occasion for homage paid to one of our great living Americans, than to be turned into a political scramble. The political fight should come later when tempers have cooled and sober judgment prevails. If present indications mean anything the people will take care to bring about a decided change at the proper time.

General MacArthur had not been on American soil for 15 years, but in that period he served the nation better than did most of his contemporaries in high place. The American people are fully cognizant of his stature.

This spontaneous outburst of approbation for the general is the most heartening thing that has occurred in the United States in years.

Powerful politicians surrounded by all the obeisance $70,000,000,000 in tax appropriations can buy—politicians who wiggle and wobble on the Communism issue, which they label a "red herring" one day "red-baiting" the next, and follow with boasts that they will never turn their backs on traitors—are stopped in their tracks by thunderous applause for MacArthur that rises ever louder and louder. This is proof that the American people will maintain their right to independent thinking.

Spring has come to Washington D. C.—the season when yachts are more popular than fur coats.

Uncle Sam is the world's foremost creditor, but he seems never embarrassed when he meets a debtor.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid—or vice versa—of their party.

In Rudolph Valentino's Footsteps

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, —(AP)—A young clergyman's son is perturbed at the task of enacting the life story of the screen's greatest lover -- Rudolph Valentino.

"I feel embarrassed," admitted Anthony Dexter.

He feels a little worried, too, wondering how middle-aged housewives and their teen-age daughters will react to his portrayal of the all-time film sheik.

The film, "Valentino," produced by Edward Small for Columbia pictures, has been a 13-year project. The studio says Dexter, a 31-year-old stage actor, got the role over 75,000 candidates.

Dexter, the son, grandson, great-grandson and nephew of clergymen, was born in Nebraska and christened Walter Renschhold Alfred Frederick Fleschmann. Figuring that was too much for the average theater marquee, he changed his name to Walter Craig. His producer changed it again to Anthony Dexter after signing him for the Valentino part in 1947.

In the years since then Dexter spent his time studying Valentino, learning tango dancing, bull whip cracking, fencing, "watching polo and football games and waiting for the writers to finish a script."

This also gave him plenty of time to grow an elegant pair of sideburns. The sideburns, long enough to cover his upper molars, still make him uneasy. People stare at them, just as they would if a 1927 flapper pranced by them.

"Playing the role of a great lover—you've got three strikes against you before you start," said Dexter, a bit morosely. "I am no more like Valentino than you are."

I thought this was rather gracious of him, as I am more often compared to the late Lon Chaney, Sr.

Actually Dexter bears quite a resemblance to Valentino. "I'm about an inch taller than he was and weight ten pounds more," he admitted. "But he had black hair and was darker; he had an olive complexion. Also he was a good horseman. I used to do a little calf riding out of chutes back in the middlewest, but I wouldn't know what to do with an eastern saddle."

Valentino died of peritonitis in 1926. Dexter feels the legend has rather outgrown the man.

"He was a shy, quiet, moody type—worried a lot," he said. "He was intelligent and had a good head on him. The people who used to work with him said he was straightforward and cooperative. He didn't run around with women. He was a good mechanic and liked to putter around with motors."

But the fans never went to watch Valentino putter around with anything but hearts. To the women of the 1920s he was a symbol of the great romantic lover—the kind that the Mrs. Babbitts yearned for at home but didn't have.

And that is the fact that makes Dexter uneasy.

"Everyone asks did I take lessons in how to make love," he said. "Of course, I didn't. I did see some revivals of the old Valentino movies. He had screen personality, and it is still there. The women were standing in line to see him again."

"But the peculiar quality any person possesses cannot be imitated completely. When he dies, the mold is broken. That is as true of Valentino as it is of Babe Ruth."

And Dexter feels he took a "terrific gamble" professionally, because he doesn't want to be typed in one kind of role, particularly that of "a great lover."

"I feel that if I can please 50 percent of the people who liked Valentino, I'd be lucky," he said. "I've already had a number of letters from women fans who admired Valentino. They wished me a happier life than he had."

What Is Position of Japan Now?

By George Sokolsky

No phase of the MacArthur controversy is more important than the future of Japan. Conquered by the United States, in a phase of World War II which no other country played an important role, Japan could have been devastated. Instead Douglas MacArthur brought to Japan ample evidence that the United States can end a fight with a handshake and even help the enemy to a reconstructed life.

Thus, MacArthur as our pro-consul created a new Japan. Whatever its role is to be, its foundation is the friendship and support of the United States. The Japanese cannot defend themselves. They have not the economic means to sustain themselves. Left alone, they must fall a prey to Soviet Russia.

Their dependence upon the United States has been symbolized by the personality of General Douglas MacArthur. Despite the almost universal cliché that human nature is the same everywhere, it is more correct to say that different human beings do not respond in the same manner to identical challenges. The Japanese have been conditioned by their history to accept the leadership of one individual, whether he be Mikado or Shogun. In a word, they approach the man-God concept of leadership.

MacArthur's personality and his moralistic conduct in Japan fitted this Japanese concept. Therefore, his success in Japan depended as much upon his personality as upon his authority. He became the father of the Japanese people and they expected from him not only guidance but protection.

MacArthur's attitude toward Russia coincided with the Japanese attitude. For the Japanese have for nearly 100 years feared and hated the Russians. Before Japan was opened to the world by Commodore Perry (in 1853), Russia made several attempts to settle on Japan but failed. After Perry, extraterritoriality and a conventional tariff were established over Japan and foreign troops were stationed in that country, the Russians establishing a garrison in Nagasaki, the evils of which were remembered even in my time in that country.

After the Meiji Revolution (1868), the Japanese sent delegations to America and to several European countries to learn the processes of modernization, but they did not send a delegation to Russia.

In 1882, Korea was opened to western trade, with China, Japan and Russia vying for control of that country. This struggle eventuated in the Sino-Japanese War (1894-95) in which Japan was victorious, the Japanese by the treaty of Shimonoseki gaining the Pescadores, Formosa, and the Liautung Peninsula (Dairen and Port Arthur) in Manchuria.

However, Russia, France and Germany forced Japan to forego her Manchurian gains and to accept a money indemnity instead (1896). The same year, Russia and China signed the Li-Lobanov Treaty by which Russia gained the right to build the Chinese Eastern Railroad, thus controlling the very area that Japan had won in war and lost by diplomacy.

And throughout this period, Russia was penetrating into Korea and establishing herself as the conqueror of Manchuria. This led to the Russo-Japanese War (1904-05) in which Japan was victorious. By the Treaty of Portsmouth, Russia recognized Japan's paramount interest in Korea, transferred to Japan the southern part of the Chinese Eastern Railroad (henceforth called the South Manchurian Railway). Japan was also given the Liautung Peninsula in Manchuria and half of Sakhalin.

Although Japan and Russia signed a number of secret treaties by which they divided Manchuria and Mongolia between them, there was no real Russian-Japanese friendship. In fact, in 1917, when the Russian revolution occurred, the Japanese sought to take areas in Siberia as far as Lake Baikal. This was countermanded by the Allies, principally the United States, who sent expeditionary forces to Siberia to hold the Trans-Siberia Railroad as trustees for Russia.

Much that is false has been written about this Siberian expedition. I was there and know the facts first hand.

It must be obvious from this review of the historical facts that a great fear of Russia has long existed in Japan and is even stronger now. The Japanese in the 1920's and 1930's justified their reversion to militarism on the grounds that they had to be prepared to withstand conquest by Russia.

The elimination of MacArthur from Japan restores this fear. Should they feel themselves abandoned, they may be forced to turn to Russia to avoid being conquered, on the assumption that a satellite might have an easier time than a conquered country. It is, for them, a frightful dilemma.

Diet and Health Skin Tuberculosis Is Serious Disease

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

The most common form of tuberculosis of the skin is known as lupus vulgaris. Formerly, it was also one of the most terrible forms of this dread disease, since it could often be disfiguring or even mutilating and treatment was by no means sure.

During the past few years, however, new treatments have been worked out which even to seasoned physicians seem almost miraculous in their effects.

Elsewhere in Body

Infection of the skin with tuberculosis germs may occur either from the outside or from a tuberculosis infection elsewhere in the body. The face, and particularly the nose, is affected in about three-fourths of all cases, with women the most frequent sufferers. The condition starts with the appearance of one or more tiny red spots. These slowly develop into small lumps which stand out as yellow-brown spots against the normal colored skin and which feel soft and jelly-like to the touch.

The condition slowly becomes worse. There may be some healing with scarring. The infection may spread to the underlying tissues, or infection with other germs may occur. The infection may also affect the lining membrane in the nose or mouth. Hence, it is important that the condition be diagnosed promptly and treated so as to stop its progress.

Carbon Dioxide Snow

Many types of treatment were formerly used for this condition, such as applying caustic substances or freezing with carbon dioxide snow. However, until recently, the best results were obtained by exposing the skin to ultraviolet rays. Now, the one treatment which seems to be most helpful is the use of vitamin D, particularly in the form of vitamin D₂ or calciferol.

It would appear that with this treatment six or seven out of ten cases can be cured. The dosage employed is quite large. Since reactions to this vitamin in large doses may occur, the treatment must be carefully regulated by the physician. Symptoms of reaction include loss of appetite, thirst, frequent emptying of the bladder, headache, dizziness, and loss of weight.

Amount of Calcium

Large doses of vitamin D will increase the amount of calcium in the blood. Hence, tests for the amount of calcium present

Church and Schools Benefit under Will

CLEVELAND, April 19 —(AP)—Industrialist William G. Mather left $3,365,000—nearly half of his estate—to a university, a church and an art museum here and a college in Connecticut.

Mather's will was filed for probate yesterday. He died April 5 at 93. His fortune was earned for the most part in iron ore shipping on the Great Lakes.

The will sets up a $3,000,000 trust fund. During her life, Mather's widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Ireland Mather, will derive the income from this fund.

When she dies, the trust fund principal will be distributed as follows:

Thirty percent to Trinity College of Hartford, Conn.; Mather's Alma Mater; 30 percent to his church, Trinity (Episcopal) Cathedral; and 20 percent to each Western Reserve University and the Cleveland Museum of Art.

Kenyon College, Episcopal School at Gambier, O., was given $50,000. Mather long was a Kenyon trustee.

Tombstones Upset As Favor to Dead, Man Held Explains

DOVER, April 19 —(AP)—A World War II veteran, who has been a patient at two government mental hospitals, was under arrest today after a minister reported catching him overturning tombstones.

Sheriff Paul Pancher said Harry Stell, 43, who owns a 68-acre farm at nearby Stone Creek also had admitted turning over about 100 tombstones at a church near his farm.

When the Tuscarawas county sheriff asked Stell why, the farmer and brick mason replied:

"People can rest better without any heavy tombstones over their heads. Cemeteries should be only grass and trees."

The sheriff said Stell had become emotionally upset more than a year ago when his sister died. Since then, the sheriff added, Stell has been a patient at Chillicothe Veterans Hospital and the Massillon State Hospital.

No charge was filed against him immediately.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, April 19 —(AP)—Washington is a bombardier's dream.

An enemy who wanted to drop an atomic bomb couldn't pick a better time than tomorrow, MacArthur Day, with all the big government brass here.

But, except for MacArthur, tomorrow is like most any other weekday in the capital.

All the key men in the government are bunched together in a really small area: president, vice president, cabinet, Congress, army, navy, air force.

True, all work in separate offices and separate buildings but when the bombs start falling those buildings aren't far apart.

In addition, hundreds of thousands of government workers are concentrated here.

So the brains and records and nerve centers of the government are jammed together in a relatively small area.

Congress has been chewing over the idea that maybe something ought to be done to make Washington a less easy target or, rather, to spread out the government a bit so it wouldn't all be wiped out in one attack.

If you think the air force could keep enemy bombers away, just remember that the top air force people say:

No air-defense system, no matter how perfect nor how well developed, can be relied upon to stop completely a determined enemy attack. Top air force officials have estimated as many as 70 percent of any attacking planes would get through to drop their bombs.

So today the Senate was finally getting around to consideration of a bill that would disperse some government agencies.

There's quite a difference between "disperse" and "decentralize."

Decentralize means transferring federal agencies, or parts of them, to places far removed from the capital because they're the kind that can do their work, in war or peace, far from here.

For example, bureaus in the agriculture department, dealing with animals, could be moved to the midwest or somewhere else.

Disperse means moving essential government agencies — very essential to what's being done in Washington — to some place outside it but not more than 20 miles away.

For example, it might be possible to disperse some parts of the treasury department.

But neither the president nor Congress could very well be dispersed. If they were, Washington would hardly be the capital any more.

A subcommittee of the Senate's committee on public works held a lot of hearings on the problem of dispersing some government agencies.

This committee acted on recommendations made by a number of important government agencies and departments, based on a study begun in 1948, for dispersal.

Finally, the committee came up with a bill that would start some of the dispersal. And this bill was laid in the lap of the Senate for consideration, starting today.

Building Permits Are Issued for Homes Here

Three building permits have been taken out for the construction of homes in Washington C. H., since April 1. They include the following: Charles C. Wilson, $4,500 five-room home on north one-half of lot 506 on Bereman; Thomas E. Noble, $10,000 five-room home on lot 19 in Country Club Addition, and Raymond Ross, $8,000 five-room home on lot 36 in Belle Aire Addition.

Presbyterian Laymen To Meet

Three Presbyteries To Unite in Event

Many Presbyterian Church members and officials from this community are planning to attend the one-day meeting of Presbyterian laymen, to be held at the Indiana Presbyterian Church, 18th and Wildeck Avenues in Columbus Sunday, May 6.

Plans are being made to handle 1,000 laymen from the 110 churches in the Columbus, Marion and Zanesville Presbyteries.

D. W. Proffit

The joint meeting of the three Presbyteries will present a speakers three outstanding leaders in the recent Chicago Laymen's Convention.

It will offer, on a smaller scale, the program highlights of that now-famed convention. The Chicago gathering is well-known for the inspiration it has offered Presbyterian laymen, but its attendance has been prohibitive to many busy Ohio church leaders because of traveling distance involved.

Chief speaker at the May meeting will be the president of the National Council of Presbyterian Men, David W. Proffit, Marysville, Tenn. Other speakers will be Louis Komjathy, Detroit attorney and outstanding layman and speaker from central states and Paul Moser, of New York City, and Topeka, Kans., executive secretary of the National Council of Presbyterian Men.

The opening session will take place at 3 P. M. with dinner at 6 P. M. The evening session will close by 9:30 P. M.

All Presbyterian lay workers and ministers in Ohio are welcome as well as others interested in the work of Ohio Presbyterian churches.

Tickets may be secured from ministers of all Presbyterian Churches in Columbus, Marion, and Zanesville Presbyteries, or from Edwin F. Hoffman, 2825 Kensington Pl., East Columbus.

All three speakers are prominent in business and professional, as well as religious, spheres.

Meat Buying Increase Reported While Prices Hold at Ceilings

(By The Associated Press)
Retail meat prices held unchanged at ceiling levels this week, eggs were up one to four cents a dozen in many places, poultry and dairy products were steady and a few fresh vegetables and citrus prices moved a little higher.

Several sources at both the retail and wholesale level reported consumer buying of meat picked up after a week-long lag blamed mostly on price resistance. They said cooler weather in many sections of the country apparently whetted appetites and "folks just got hungry for meat again."

Meat wholesalers said lamb was in particularly short supply.

Meat dealers still were expecting momentarily a new series of government orders setting price ceilings on beef from the slaughter level through the retail stores. These won't put ceilings on livestock, but will indirectly affect livestock prices by limiting slaughterers' quotations. They also will ease the pinch on many butchers and retailers who were caught by the general freeze with ceilings which were too low in relation to packers' price ceilings.

Demand Hikes Egg Price

The continued rise in egg prices was blamed on a big demand from all types of users—from consumers using eggs as substitutes for high priced meats, from hatcheries, from breakers' building up their frozen liquid egg supplies, and from the military.

On the produce counters, beets were reported in light supply — still reflecting freeze damage during the winter — and higher-priced. Also up in most places: broccoli, golden heat and pascal celery, potatoes and citrus fruits. Slightly lower were asparagus, snap beans, cabbage, green corn, cucumbers, peas, peppers and strawberries.

Reaching distant markets for the first time this season in any quantity were new Florida potatoes, new Texas onions and new South Carolina cabbage.

Wholesale food prices eased a little this week, according to the Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food index which declined two cents to 57.13. This compared with the 1951 high to date of $7.31 on Feb. 20, and with $5.73 a year ago. The index represents the total cost of a pound each of 31 general-use foods at wholesale.

Former Prizefighter Killed During Brawl

COLUMBUS, April 19 —(AP)—Andy Van Gelow, 38, a former prizefighter, died after a fight in a downtown drink spot (The Cave) Wednesday.

Police said he had been struck with a beer bottle and apparently had been kicked. He died of internal injuries.

Twelve persons, including four women, were taken into custody for questioning. Van Gelow fought professionally as a bantamweight, under the name of Andy Vassel, about 10 years ago in Columbus. Recently he had been working at a shoe factory.

Van Gelow served with a tank destroyer outfit in World War II, was wounded in the Battle of the Rhine and received the Purple Heart award.

His mother, Mrs. Helen Karagena, remarked today: "To think Andy should have gotten through all that mess in Europe and then have something like this happen."

Health District Revision Balked

COLUMBUS, April 19 —(AP)—The House health committee today indefinitely postponed further consideration of a measure to revise health districts throughout Ohio.

Committee members said the action virtually scraps the proposal by Rep. J. E. Simpson (R-Hardin).

The measure after elaborate revision proposed creation of health districts in every county and in cities with more than 50,000 population.

He termed it a move to "correct inequities."

He said he would sign the new regulation later this week.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the Men's Apparel Trades Division of the Allied Jewish Appeal, Di Salle said the year before the North Koreans launched their invasion last June 25 will be taken as the base period. A manufacturer, he said, will be permitted to take any quarter of that year as his base.

Some seasonal adjustments will be made, he added, and other adjustments will be authorized to correct inequities in certain industries.

West Europe Nations Pool Steel and Coal

PARIS, April 19 —(AP)—Six west European nations today signed a treaty pooling their $4,000,000,000 a year coal and steel industries.

West Germany and France are the main partners in the historic pool. It is commonly known as the Schuman Plan, after France's Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg are the other members.

The pool has great political implications.

The French are convinced that by fusing the heavy industries of France and West Germany any future war between the two nations is impossible.

To become operational, parliaments of the six nations will have to give their final approval.

New Casualty List

WASHINGTON, April 19 —(AP)—The defense department today identified 163 additional casualties in Korea. A new list (No. 280) reported 51 killed, 64 wounded, 19 missing in action and 38 injured in accidents.

Mrs. Slager Leads Program At Class Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nessel were hosts to the members of the Golden Rule Class of Bloomingburg Methodist Church at their home Wednesday evening.

The president, Mr. Frank Slager conducted the business session and the opening devotionals were led by Miss Betty Oswald which included the hymn "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Me," Scripture reading from the Book of Acts, the hymn "God Will Take Care of You," and the praying of the "Lord's Prayer."

Roll call was responded to by eighteen members and the usual reports were given.

A committee appointed to redecorate the church basement is made up of Mrs. Harold McConaughy, Mrs. Charles Hughes, Mrs. Frank Slager and Mr. Leonard Slager.

Prayer by Rev. Guy Tucker concluded the business meeting.

The program in charge of Mrs. Frank Slager, consisted of a song "Time On My Hands" was given by four high school students Miss Delores Foster, K. O. Rhoads, Bob Morris and Ronald Lee, with David Foster at the piano.

Mrs. Slager introduced Mrs. Elton Elliott, who presented a poem, "The Helping Hand," a reading "There Shall Be Wings and two poems, "The Housewife Hymn" and "Building the Bridge."

Another song by the quartet was "What He Hath Done For Us He Will Do For You," closed the program and a social hour followed.

A dessert course was served by the host and hostess assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Watkins.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McConaughy.

Gable Separation Rumor Explained

HOLLYWOOD, April 19—(AP)—The Clark Gables are apart and will remain apart for several weeks, but his studio says it's just because she wants to look at some property in Nassau.

Mrs. Gable, the former Sylvia Ashley, flew out of here last night en route to the Bahamas. Her departure topped a day of rumors

Wedding Plans Are Completed By Couple

Plans for the open church wedding of Miss Patricia Mitchell and Mr. Harvey Thomas of Findlay on Sunday April 29 have been completed.

The marriage vows will be read by Rev. Allan W. Caley at 2:30 P. M. and will be preceded by a half hour of nuptial music presented by Miss Joan Kellough, soloist, and Mr. Donald Riber, organist.

Miss Mitchell has chosen as her attendants former college friends at Bowling Green University, Miss Joanne Cull of Chicago Heights, Ill., as maid of honor, and Mrs. Gerald Frost of Bowling Green, as bride's matron.

Mr. Don Thomas of Findlay will serve his brother as best man and ushers seating the guests will be Mr. James Mitchell, brother of the bride, Mr. Ivan Thomas, of Findlay, brother of the bridegroom and Mr. Gerald Frost of Bowling Green, a college friend.

Camp Fire Girls Hold Meeting

The Wetomachick Camp Fire Girls group met at the home of Sandra Mickle and the guardian Mrs. Phil Douglass opened the meeting with Scripture reading from the Book of John. Roll call was responded to with Indian names. The secretary's report was given by Patricia Robinson and Lu Ann Foster, treasurer also gave her report and Patricia Robinson is to read a story at the next meeting. The girls learned the Camp Fire song "Wohelo Cheer" and the meeting was closed. Light refreshments were served by Patricia Robinson and Rosemary Hargo assisted by Patricia's mother, Mrs. William K. Robinson.

and followed confirmation from the studio that the Gables "have had a marital spat."

Gable returned yesterday from a vacation in Arizona and accompanied his wife to the airport. They embraced before she boarded the plane.

The National Geographic Society says English is the world's leading language, spoken by 260,000,000 persons.

Garden Planners Watch Weather

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

A gambler's intuition is handy when it comes time to plant your home garden, but the U. S. Weather Bureau can help too.

Timing the planting of seeds is one of the most important elements in gardening success. If some crops come up too soon the frost will get them. If planted too late hot weather may wilt them. Some plants like it hot. Some like it cool.

A local weather bureau can tell you when to expect the last killing frost in your neighborhood. Experienced local gardeners and your agricultural college also can give you some good advice. Weather records have been kept for years in nearly all parts of the U. S., and are a reliable garden-er's guide.

Some crops may be planted as early as six weeks before the last frost may be expected. Among these hardy plants are radishes, lettuce, broccoli, cabbage, onions, peas, spinach and turnips. In planting early be sure to choose the best early varieties of each crop.

Other crops are killed by the slightest frost, but the experienced gardener may want to take a "careful" gamble with these. He will plant before the average date of the last frost, on the chance this year will be an exception and there will be no late frost.

If he makes a poor guess and frost kills the plants, he replants. But if he wins the gamble he has an extra early crop. Many experienced gardeners believe such gambles are well justified as the loss of a dozen or so tomato plants in a small garden is not a serious set-back.

Among crops most sensitive to frost are pole beans, tomatoes, pepper plants, New Zealand spinach and sweet corn.

Some crops enjoy and need hot weather to mature. They should be planted well after the date of the last expected frost. Some of these can be planted after a hardy early crop has been harvested. Thus a gardener may increase the efficiency of his plot, making it produce two crops a season.

Among the crops that enjoy and need hot weather to mature are lima beans, eggplant and sweet potatoes.

Most of the hardy plants thrive in cool weather, and don't like it hot. They should not be planted late in the spring in the southern two-thirds of the nation. Among these are peas and lettuce.

Some vegetables that do not like hot weather may be planted in late summer, instead of early spring, and mature in the cool weather of fall.

Furore Stirred Up in Capital By Ouster of Gen. MacArthur

By CLARENCE E. BROWN

The sudden dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur by President Truman has created a tragic situation, the final results of which can not now be estimated. In a radio speech to the nation, the president contended his action was taken to prevent the Korean conflict spreading into World War Three. However, had the recommendations of MacArthur been followed in World War Two and since, China would not be Communist today, Russia would not have Manchuria, and the Korean war would never have occurred. The appeasement policies of this and past administrations created the present dangerous situation in Asia. General MacArthur properly protested the continued flow of strategic war materials from our so-called allies to Red China and Russia for use against our fighting men. The labor government of Great Britain, which recognized Red China and sells it strategic war materials, as well as to Russia, greeted MacArthur's dismissal with great acclaim. These same British officials predict a Korean truce will soon be negotiated; with Communist China admitted to the United Nations, Formosa turned over to them, and Red China eventually recognized by the United States. Secretary of State Acheson a long time ago announced the United States would not veto any attempt to seat the Chinese Communist delegation in the United Nations.

More than 75 thousand telegrams protesting dismissal of General MacArthur and demanding the impeachment of President Truman reached Capitol Hill within 24 hours after the president's unprecedented action was announced. The next day thousands of letters began pouring in from indignant Americans. The oldest career employees on Capitol Hill claim to never have seen such a strong nationwide reaction as that which has come from the MacArthur dismissal.

The Republican policy committee of the House and Senate joined in demanding General MacArthur be invited to appear before a Joint Session of Congress to tell his story. Reluctantly the administration leadership in Congress agreed to join in the invitation to MacArthur, who will speak to the Congress on Thursday or Friday of this week. The Republicans in Congress also are demanding a complete review and investigation of the foreign and military policies which lead the nation into the present critical situation. Demands are being made that the suppressed General Wedemeyer Report on Korea be made public.

Official figures show that during the first nine months of the Korean War American casualties stood at $58,550, as compared to 58,547 casualties suffered by U. S. forces during the first full year of World War Two. These casualty totals certainly prove the Korean conflict is not simple "police action" President Truman has termed it.

Last week the House really did something about cutting down on governmental spending. The president had requested supplemental or additional appropriations of $843,000,000 for the nondefense agencies of the government's use between now and June 30. The House appropriations committee, and then later, the House as a whole, cut the president's $843,000,000 request by $365,000,000 -- or 43 percent -- the deepest slash ever made in any deficiency appropriation request.

Another administration scandal has developed as a result of a Senate committee investigation of charges federal positions were being sold in Mississippi by members of a pro-Truman political committee recognized by the Democratic national committee. Senator Hoey of North Carolina headed the special committee which heard testimony that all but two of the "contributions" sent to the Democratic National committee from Mississippi were actually in payment for appointments to federal positions.

After two weeks of acrimonious debate, the House last Friday passed a watered down military manpower bill by a vote of 372 to 44. The measure amends the present selective service act and extends its life for three years. It reduces the age of induction from 18 to 19 years and 6 months, but provides that all available draftees over 19 must be called first; and prohibits the sending of youngsters into combat before they have reached the age of 19 and have also had at least 4 months of military training.

The bill increases the length of military service required from 21 months to 26 months and makes mandatory discharge of inactive reservist veterans after 12 months of service. Strong opposition to the universal military training section of the bill, as passed by the Senate, and reported from the House armed services committee, forced the administration leadership to strike out the provision which would have given the president and the military power to establish a UMT program at some future time to replace the present selective service system. The UMT section of the bill now provides only for the naming of a commission to study the UMT problem and report suggested training plans to the Congress for its consideration later on. However, no universal military training program can be started, under the provisions of the bill as it passed the House, until and unless it is first authorized by enactment of Congress. Thus UMT goes over for later decision. A conference committee will now endeavor to work out the differences between the House and Senate versions of the military manpower bill.

Our congressional office has been handicapped the last two weeks by the serious illness of two of our secretaries. The burden of office work has also been greatly increased by correspondence relative to the military manpower bill and President Truman's dismissal of General MacArthur. So if our constituents do not receive answers to their correspondence promptly it is hoped they will understand and be patient with us.

$4,500,000 Asked For Smog Damage

PITTSBURGH, April 19 —(P)—Damage suits seeking nearly $4,500,000 as the result of a fatal industrial smog which cost 20 lives have been settled out of court for about $220,000 -- five percent of the claims.

Residents of Donora, Pa., 20 miles south of Pittsburgh on the Monongahela River, had filed 131 damage suits against the American Steel and Wire Co., a U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiary. Relatives of the deceased, persons among the 5,000 made ill by noxious fumes and others who claimed property damages filed the suits. They said fumes from the company's plant polluted the air.

RADIO SERIES POSTPONED
The scheduled broadcast by the Duke and Duchess of Windsor in the pro and con radio interview series on NBC, has been postponed one week at the duke's request. They were to have appeared tomorrow night, but because of the concentration on MacArthur that day, the duke said he felt it would be presumptuous on his part to broadcast then. He will discuss his new book, "A King's Story."

Winston Churchill's address at the University of Pennsylvania, May 8, first announced for 30 minutes, has been extended to an hour. It is being scheduled on both radio and television.

County Poor Relief Plan Runs into Snag

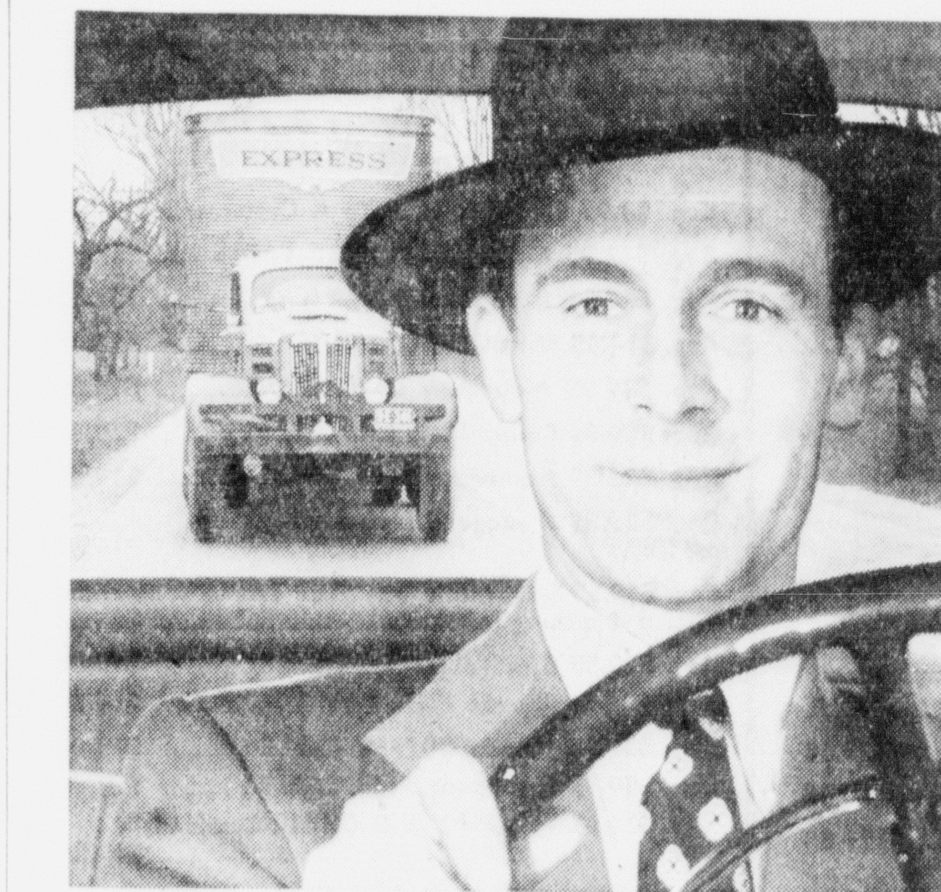

COLUMBUS, April 19 —(P)—A proposal by Rep. Roger Cloud (R-Logan) to turn all poor relief operations over to counties ran into stiff opposition at a House taxation committee hearing today.

The Rev. B. Bruce Whittemore of Cincinnati, a member of the Hamilton county welfare advisory board, said the proposed change would cut about $1,000,000 a year from Hamilton county relief funds.

Mr. Whittemore is executive secretary of the greater Cincinnati council of churches. John Poda of Akron, head of the Summit County board of commissioners, said the change would cost his county from $350,000 to $600,000 a year.

When the first surveys were made of Mt. Everest in 1852 the surveyors called it Peak XV.

New Type Annual At New Holland

Complete Record Of Year Planned

If everything goes according to plan, there should be about $500 in the treasury to finance the trip to the nation's capital which the seniors of New Holland High School plan to take after graduation as the climax of their school days.

The class has been working toward this end ever since its members entered high school four years ago. It has undertaken a variety of fund-raising projects, including the concessions at the home basketball games.

But there also have been expenses; and there are still more to come.

But, by and large, the outlook is pretty rosy in the eyes of Supt. Kenneth Craig, who has been keeping a close tab on the class' activities this year.

The class' last big project was the class play. It was a success, said Supt. Craig, "anyway you look at it". It was good entertainment, the folks got a lot of laughs, and it netted about $70 for the class bank account, he added.

So, as of right now, the class has $800.11 to its credit.

But, there is still the annual to get out and pay for—and that's a story in itself.

Already about $100 has been put into the annual's publication preparedness and by the time it is ready for delivery, it will take between $300 and $400 out of the treasury.

But, to offset the cost of the annual, there will be the money coming in from the sales.

New Kind of Annual

The New Holland seniors and their faculty advisors, including Supt. Craig, revealed today that they are trying something new, something revolutionary, in the way of school annuals.

The way Supt. Craig expressed it, the annual will be a complete record of the class and the school year.

He went on to explain: This means that the annual probably will not be delivered until August because publication is being held up until after commencement.

In this delayed annual, Supt. Craig said, will be pictures and accounts of all school activities, including the commencement affairs.

Previously, Supt. Craig pointed out, none of the activities that took place after March or April could be included in the annual.

Under the new plan, he said, the annual would "have everything . . . right on through commencement, which is one of the most important parts of the student's school career." "It will be a real record of the school year," he declared.

The customary excursion to the nation's capital and the scenic and

Dixie Lee Ellison To Sing over TV

Dixie Lee Ellison, 18-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ellison, 433 East Court Street, has been selected to sing over WLW-television (Channel 3) at 12 noon Sunday.

She was selected following an audition held a few weeks ago in a Dayton studio. Miss Ellison will appear on the program "Star-maker Review," a program designed for amateur entertainers.

Miss Ellison competed in an amateur show held by the Sinclair Oil Co. in the Washington C. H. High School auditorium sometime ago, and won an audition in Dayton.

She has never appeared over television, although she sang on a radio program. She is studying for secretarial work, which she will engage in following her graduation from Washington C. H. High School May 25.

Sam Boggs, Jr. Wins Promotion While in Korea

Sam Boggs Jr., of near Washington C. H. has been promoted to corporal for his outstanding performance of duty as an X Corps military policeman on the central Korean front.

The X Corps MPs have served on both sides of the parallel since landing with General Almond's fighting forces at the initial liberation of Inchon-Seoul last September.

But the company's most rugged deal came during the Battle of the Chosin Reservoir last December.

As part of a special task force pushing up from Hamhung to assist GIs and Marines fighting out of the Red trap, the MPs helped keep the sole route of withdrawal to the south open. The MPs were tagged as traffic controllers, but historical places of interest along the route and in the vicinity is considered as part of the class' education.

There are 15 in the class this year and most of them are expected to make the trip. They are to go in three private cars, each driven by a chaperone. Class funds are to pay for travel and lodgings, but not for meals, souvenirs and incidentals.

Supt. Craig is planning to drive one car, Coach Robert O'Brien another. The driver of a third car has not yet been definitely determined, but a woman probably will be at the wheel so she can serve as a companion-chaperone for the girls of the class.

Senior Class To Present Play Here Friday

EVERYONE IN THE SENIOR PLAY CAST of "Harvey" at Washington C. H. High School seems somewhat astounded when Elwood P. Dowd (center above) introduces his new-found friend, Harvey. Their astonishment comes from the fact that only Elwood can see the six-foot white rabbit. The play will be presented by the cast Friday in the high school auditorium, starting at 8 P. M. Shown above (left to right) looking for Harvey are: Kay Morter, Jean Perrilli, Bob Lewis, Bill Robinson, Jean Scholl, Rodney Beaver, Harvey, Ellis Miller (who plays Elwood), Dick Hughes, Jane Terrell, Helen Louise Hynes and Bill Case.

Business Peak Hit By Westinghouse Co.

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., April 19 — (AP) —The Westinghouse Electric Corp. announced today new orders for the first quarter of 1951 are the largest in its history.

Net income for the period was a lot of times they had to play infantrymen when the Reds got too close.

Corporal Boggs entered the Army in July, 1948, at Washington C. H. and sailed for Japan in October of the same year to join the 720th MP Battalion of the Army of Occupation. He was assigned to the X Corps MPs on August 23 and took part in the initial liberation of Inchon-Seoul beginning September 15.

Before joining the Army, he attended Fairfield high school at Leesburg. His father, Sam Boggs, resides on the Anderson Road.

Pfc. Charles W. Boggs, who is believed to be a brother of Sam Jr., was killed in action Sept. 27, 1950 in Korea.

Medics To Hold Annual Meeting

Local Physician To Attend Event

Several members of the Fayette County Medical Society will attend the annual meeting of the Ohio State Medical Association, which will be held at the Hotel Netherland Plaza in Cincinnati April 24, 25 and 26. Dr. Byers W. Shaw is on the program.

It is the annual scientific and business session of the association. Some 2,000 physicians from throughout Ohio are expected to attend one or more sessions of the association. Policies will be decided, and officers will be elected for the ensuing 12 months.

The afternoon of the first day will include a general session devoted to "Physicians in Civil Defense." Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of the Ohio department of health, will discuss the organization of medical and health personnel and resources. Dr. Donald M. Glover, Cleveland, will present a paper on treatment of burns, and Dr. Joseph L. Morton and B. K. Wiseman of Columbus, will talk on diagnosis and treatment of radiation sickness and injury.

A general session on "Problems of the Small Community Hospital" is scheduled for the afternoon of April 26 and discussions will include: Dr. Robert M. Zollinger, Columbus, moderator; Dr. Paul R. Hawley, director of the American College of Surgeons, Chicago; Dr. Arnold D. Platt, Newark; Dr. Emmerich von Haam, Columbus; Mary C. Schabinger, R. N. Wauson; Dr. Byers W. Shaw, Washington C. H., and Dr. J. L. Webb, Nelsonville.

Series E Bond Sales Increase In This County

Richard P. Rankin, Fayette County defense bond chairman, announced today that sales of Series E Bonds during the month of March totaled $41,881. Sales for the same month a year ago were $24,262, an increase of 73%.

Sales total for the state was $17,812,719, a decrease of approximately seven percent under sales for the state in March, 1950. During the same period national sales dropped approximately 20 percent, which makes the Fayette County figure even more remarkable.

On March 26, President Truman signed the bill which is designed to encourage in series E bonds, which begin to mature May 1. Briefly, the bill provides three options for E bond holders.

They may receive cash in full at anytime, and the law in no way changes this right, which is provided in the original contract.

Options Open

Under the second option, the bond owner may retain his bond for an additional 15-year period during which interest will accrue at the rate of 2 1/2 percent simple interest for the first seven and a half years. Then it will increase for the remaining two and a half years to bring the aggregate interest return to approximately 2 1/2 percent, compounded semi-annually.

The later choice requires no action of any kind on the part of the owner, who may present his bond at anytime and receive cash in full plus accrued interest at the new rates.

The third option provides for exchange of series E for series G, or current income bonds. The conversion G bonds are a special new series providing for redemption at full face value at anytime, whereas the regular G bond is redeemable only at reduced value.

Congress has also continued the existing option of paying income taxes on E bond interest currently or in the year in which the bonds are finally redeemed, except that conversion to a G bond is considered to be a redemption.

Rankin stated that the Federal Reserve Bank had given full information concerning the optional conversions to all local banks and their officers and are now prepared to advise bondholders desiring to take advantage of the new law.

Pre-School Clinics Set In County, City Schools

With school starting into its final period for the year, plans are being made by the Fayette County Health Department for next year's first graders.

Between April 24 and May 29, the members of the staff plan to hold 14 pre-school clinics for all the county and city schools. The first clinic is scheduled for April 24 at Milledgeville.

"The clinic has a twofold purpose," Miss Gretchen Darlington, supervising nurse, said. "The main purpose is so that children may receive a physical check-up to point out any defects," she said.

"The second purpose of this pre-school clinic enables the child to become acquainted with the school he will be attending as well as the teacher," Miss Darlington pointed out.

If a child is found to have any defect, the summer period can be used to correct it before they begin school in the fall.

Dr. Gordon Savage, county health commissioner, will conduct the clinics and will make the physical inspections.

Among the things to be checked by Dr. Savage are: teeth, nose, throat, lungs and feet. One of the nurses from the county health staff will accompany Dr. Savage and give eye tests to the youngsters to see if they need glasses or if there are any defects in their vision.

A complete record of the diseases the child has had will also be made. This health record is kept on file and kept up-to-date all the way through the child's school life in the county.

Records Are Kept

A record of the immunization shots the child has taken will also be kept. If the child needs either diphtheria, whooping cough or tetanus shots or smallpox vaccination the parents will be asked to get them completed by the beginning of the fall term.

The county health office is hoping for a 100 percent turnout at the clinics this year. Last year 75 percent of the children who enrolled in the school during the fall attended the pre-school clinic in the spring.

The following schedule for holding the clinics has been set up by the health department. If any of the parents are unable to take their children on the date listed, they are asked to attend the clinic which is next closest to their district.

This is the schedule for the clinics: Milledgeville, April 24 at 9:30 A. M.; Olive and New Martinsburg Schools at Olive School, April 24 at 1 P. M.; Good Hope, April 27 at 9:30 A. M.; Wilson School, May 1 at 1:30 P. M.; Bloomingburg, Marion and Yatesville Schools at Bloomingburg, May 4 at 9 A. M.; Staunton School, May 8 at 9:30 A. M.; Jeffersonville and Bookwalter Schools at Jeffersonville, May 8 at 1 P. M.; Madison Mills School, May 15 at 9:30 A. M. and Chaffin School, May 22 at 9:30 A. M.

The schedule for the clinic's visit to the city schools is: Central School, May 18 at 9 A. M.; Cherry Hill School, May 18 at 1 P. M.; Eastside School, May 22 at 1 P. M.; Sunnyside, May 25 at 9 A. M. and Rose Avenue and Eber Schools at Rose Avenue, May 29 at 1 P. M.

OSAHS Annual Meeting Soon

Several Prominent Speakers on Program

Fayette County members are planning to attend the 66th annual meeting of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society, which will be held April 27 and 28 at the Ohio State Museum, High Street at 15th Avenue, Columbus.

Friday's activities will commence at 10 A. M. with the opening of an exhibition of early American farm and trade tools, household appliances and country store merchandise.

At 10:30 A. M. Friday a meeting of the county and local historical societies will be held, with Ernest G. Hesser of Crestline presiding. There are now 82 societies in Ohio. An address "A Cooperative Program," by Harvey Walker, professor of political science, Ohio State University, will be the highlight of the morning.

In the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the historical societies will meet again to discuss Ohio's Sesquicentennial program with Robert C. Wheeler, administrative assistant of the Sesquicentennial Commission presiding.

The Franklin County Historical Society will be host at an informal tea in the lounge at 4 P. M.

The annual dinner will be served in the galleries of the auditorium at 7:15 P. M. John C. Baker, president of Ohio University, will preside at the after-dinner meeting, with Governor Lausche giving greetings. S. K. Stevens, state historian of Pennsylvania will give an address, "Local History, Foundation of Our Faith."

Music will be furnished by the music department of the Ohio State University.

On Saturday the 28 at 1 P. M., the committee on medical history and archives of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society will meet with Linden F. Edwards, Ohio State University, presiding.

Sherlock Holmes lovers are interested in news from London of plans for a new building on the traditional site of 221-B Baker Street. This "home" of the great detective was bombed out during the war.

Chest Here To Elect Officers

Other Drive Groups Receive Invitations

Members of the Board of Directors of the Washington C. H. Community Chest will choose their officers for the year at a reorganizational meeting scheduled for 7:30 P. M. Tuesday.

Letters were sent out by the executive secretary, Perse Harlow, to the tuberculosis and health association, the heart association, the cancer and polio foundations, the Red Cross, the board of health, the city and county school superintendents and the crippled children's society, inviting the various groups to have representatives at the meeting.

The letter states: "The Board of Directors of the Chest feel that in times such as these it is very important for all health and welfare organizations to cooperate with each other in order to render the most service to the community."

"This meeting might also be a good time to discuss the organization and success of federated fund raising campaigns in other cities throughout the nation."

One important topic which will be discussed will be the extension of membership on the social planning committee to all health and welfare groups or the establishment of a new community-wide health and welfare council.

The meeting will be held in the Chamber of Commerce office. It was indicated that a campaign chairman may be chosen at the meeting.

Inheritance Tax During Last Year Reached $32,950

During the past year total inheritance tax in Fayette County reached $32,950.69, according to figures announced Wednesday by County Auditor Ulic T. Acton.

Of this amount the state got one-half, and the other half went to the various taxing districts in the county in which the taxed property was located.

For instance of the total amount, Washington C. H. received $3,580.68, according to figures from the City Auditor's office.

The funds received from inheritance taxes goes into the general fund of the various taxing districts, and is used for administrative expenses generally.

COLUMBUS, April 19 —(P)—Democratic state headquarters announced today the date of the annual Ohio Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet in Columbus has been changed from May 24 to June 7.

Concert Drive To Open Here; Artist To Appear on Monday

JOHN SEBASTIAN, harmonica virtuoso of radio, television and night club, will appear here on the final Community Concert series program at 8:15 P. M. Monday.

Next week will be a busy one for volunteer workers of the Washington C. H. Community Concert Association. Sunday evening, a kick-off dinner will be held at the Washington Country Club, which will signal the beginning of the annual one-week membership drive.

Monday night, John Sebastian will present his concert at the Washington C. H. High School auditorium. The program was originally scheduled for Wednesday night but has been re-scheduled for Monday evening, due to changes in the artist's touring itinerary.

The story of John Sebastian is the story of the conversion of a "hip-pocket hobby" into a career, and the elevation of the lowly mouth-organ to an honored place in the ranks of symphonic instruments.

At the age of twelve, Sebastian gave his first public performance as soloist with John Phillip Sousa's Band. Since that time he has appeared with many of the country's leading symphony orchestras, and has had tremendous successes at such night spots as Cafe Society Uptown, the Wedgewood Room at the Waldorf-Astoria, the Cotillion Room of the Hotel Pierre and at Chicago's famed Palmer House.

The list of the important television shows on which Sebastian has appeared is growing steadily and many radio listeners have heard him on such programs as "The Camel Caravan," "Texaco Star Theater" and the "Chesterfield Show."

London Has Many Planes Over City

Spotters in the Civilian Defense program in London have reported 83 airplanes passing over the town in 48 hours.

Fighters, bombers and cargo planes were included among the number counted. The data was relayed to Columbus.

Sometimes 15 or 20 flights are observed over Washington C. H. daily.

Cincinnati Area Vice Check Begun

CINCINNATI, April 19 —(P)—Agents of the Internal Revenue collector's office today began checking records of arrests of gamblers, dope peddlers and racketeers in this area.

Edward G. Weinewuth, chief deputy in the collector's office, in making the announcement said agents are going as far back as 1948.

The arrests records will be used to check on income tax payments, and, in the case of narcotics peddlers, in the payment of federal taxes on drugs.

Steel for Cars Is Growing Need

Iron Ore To Come From New Sources

NEW YORK, April 19 —(P)—Steel for your 1956 automobile probably will be made from iron ore now scattered in far corners of this hemisphere.

To get this ore to the blast furnaces the steel industry has ahead of it one of the biggest transportation jobs in history.

Its leaders estimate substantial quantities will be brought to the steelmaking centers by 1955.

The ore will come from Venezuela, the Quebec-Labrador area, Liberia, the Steep Rock Lake area in Canada, perhaps from other South American or Caribbean countries.

Development of these foreign fields was undertaken to prevent depletion of high-grade reserves in the great Mesabi Range in Minnesota, which has long supplied the major ore needs of the nation. The swift expansion of steel-making capacity of the industry also made new sources of material desirable.

Ore transport facilities are being strained by the present record output of a little over 2,000,000 tons of raw steel weekly.

Lake ore carriers haul millions of tons of iron ore every summer down from the Lake Superior area. This is used not only to keep the furnaces going during the shipping season, but also to build up stockpiles for winter operations.

Needs Are Heavy

Defense officials think 91,500,000 tons will be needed from the lakes traffic this year to maintain near-capacity steel operations.

Although the lake boats got an early start—three weeks ahead of last year's schedule—two major steel companies already have announced they plan extensive all-rail shipments to the mills.

Oliver Iron Mining Co., U. S. Steel subsidiary, expects to average 400 to 500 cars daily from the Gogebic and Mesabi Ranges to the Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Chicago areas. Republic Steel Corp. is starting similar all-rail shipments to the Youngstown district.

The industry anticipates ore shipped by rail this year will exceed 4,000,000 tons, dependent on availability of gondolas and hopper cars.

Several companies have new ore boats under construction to enlarge capacity of present fleets, but most of these will not be in service before the 1952 season.

Other construction to meet the gigantic transport problem includes railroads to carry ore to waterways, barges, docks and loading and unloading facilities.

In addition to the foreign ore counted on to feed the new steel-making furnaces, ore supplies will be increased by the reduction to pellets of the hard iron-bearing rock known as taconite, of which billions of tons are available in this country.

Reserve Mining Co., owned by Republic and Armco Steel Corp., has scheduled for completion by 1955 a taconite processing plant at Beaver Bay, Minn., to produce some 2,500,000 tons of pellets a year.

Increase Estimated

Tom Campbell, editor of the Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, estimates that from all sources there will be available to the industry by 1960 some 47,000,000 tons or more annually of ore which is not available today.

The transporting of this material will be a major problem.

So we find some steel companies lining up in support of the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway. This would provide a deep channel for boats carrying the Quebec-Labrador ore, after it is hauled to a river port on a railroad now being built.

G. E. Humphrey, president of M. A. Hanna, expects substantial shipments of ore from the Quebec-Labrador development in 1955. Reserves of high-grade, open pit ore there have been estimated at more than 416,000,000 gross tons.

U. S. Steel Corp., with the largest ore deposit in Venezuela, is considering dredging an Orinoco River channel for its boats.

It hopes to bring much of this ore to the new fairless works being built on the Delaware River near Morrisville, Pa. To prepare the Delaware channel for such shipments, according to some estimates, 85 may be necessary to remove up to 400,000 yards of rock.

Bethlehem Steel already has received its first ore from its Venezuela property at its huge Sparrows Point, Maryland, plant.

A record total of nearly 9,200,000 tons of foreign ore was im-

PTAs to Show Achievements In Bloomingburg

Variety of Projects Completed During Year by Groups

Members of the various parent-teacher groups throughout the county are making final preparations for the annual "Achievement Day" program, which will be held at the Bloomingburg High School Friday at 7 P. M.

Work for the annual program was under the guidance of the county council, which is made up of the presidents of the different groups.

The "Achievement Day" is for the purpose of summing up the year's work of the organizations. They will report on the number of improvements they have made at the different schools the amount of money collected and the ways used to raise the funds.

The projects vary from the purchase of books for the libraries to the repair of the school buildings. A large amount of the money for these projects is raised by the groups serving dinners at stock sales and by putting on shows for the community.

Preceding the program, there will be a potluck supper for everyone who brings a covered platter. The program was reported last year from 13 countries, the three largest suppliers being Chile, Sweden and Canada-Newfoundland.

This figure will look pretty small when all the new developments are in full swing.

Carl Wilt, program chairman, listed the following numbers which will be on the program: Olive, 7th and 8th grade girls chorus; Marion and Carolyn Yahn, trumpet solo; Eber, Frank Deskins, solo; Jeffersonville, Eddie Straley and Alvin Long, vocal duo; Bookwalter, Roger Belle, recitation; Chaffin, 5th and 6th grade chorus.

Yatesville, Dickie Miller, recitation; Staunton, 3rd and 4th grades, folk dancing; Wilson, Linda Perrill, Betty Adams, Sharon Neft and Nancy Stephenson, vocal quartet; Wayne, a novelty number; Madison Mills, girls chorus; Bloomingburg, school band; New Martinsburg, Happy Wilson, piano solo and Jasper Gerald Leisure and Larry East, a vocal duo.

The members of the various committees which are helping to arrange the Achievement Day activities are: Mrs. Floyd Henkleman, general chairman; Mrs. Cecil Long, publicity chairman; Carl Wilt, program chairman; Mrs. G. H. Biddle, decorations chairman and Mrs. W. C. Vernon, food chairman.

Others on the food committee include: Mrs. Gladys Fredericks, Mrs. Robert Haines, Mrs. Richard Rankin, Mrs. Jess Schlechter, Mrs. John Sheeley, Mrs. Lawrence Hoppes, Mrs. Marion Brown, Mrs. George Trimmer, Mrs. Mary Hull and Mrs. Theodore Kneisley.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD"

U. S. Submarines In Korean Waters

WASHINGTON, April 19 —(P)—The U. S. has put some of its newest Snorkel submarines into Korean waters and at least one evidently has been in combat, it was learned today.

The navy has acknowledged only that undersea boats were sent to the area almost as soon as the war started. It has said nothing about types or how the submarines were being used.

This reticence has two primary causes: The normal secrecy surrounding any work of the traditionally "silent service," and the quiet but careful watch needed for the appearance of Russian surface or undersea craft in Korean conflict.

Disclosure that guppy Snorkel subs are operating in the Far East arose out of publication of a picture in the official navy service magazine "All Hands."

"CP" RANGE
SPRING STYLE SHOW
APRIL 15th - MAY 1st

Convenience in the kitchen is made up of little things—the saving of minutes and of the countless extra motions that slow the efficiency of kitchen work. Most women have learned the fundamentals of kitchen arrangement into work centers to save steps and needless reaching. It remained for "CP" gas range designers and engineers to eliminate some of the common annoyances important because of frequency rather than effort required.

One of these "tremendous trifles" is the automatic matchless lighting of all burners—including ovens and broilers—on the new "CP" natural gas ranges. Another is the automatic control of oven heat at temperatures low enough for the new low temperature roasting that minimizes shrinkage. Efficient oven rack stops are still another improvement appreciated by every woman who wants to prevent accidents and waste from food spillage. The convenience and safety of these new developments make them important factors in selection of a new gas range.

Visit your dealer soon and see the famous makes of natural gas ranges that have met the rigid tests to wear the "CP" seal of Certified Performance.

Why not give your Bride a Break?

LET's see what it means to own a ROADMASTER.

It means, first of all, that you're a shrewd judge of fine manufacture. Nowhere will you find a mechanism more skilfully fitted part to part with scrupulous precision—engineered to stricter standards of fine-car quality—than the deep-framed and durable ROADMASTER chassis.

It means, also, that you possess keen appreciation of everything that makes for unsurpassed performance.

For there's more to this dazzling beauty than its thrilling take-off. There's the surplus of power that you need to make you the master of busy traffic or open road—plus the velvet magic of Dynaflo Drive (at no extra cost, mind you).

There's the level-going luxury of ample roadweight buoyantly balanced on coil springs on every wheel—and the security of brakes specifically engineered for firm control of this great-powered beauty.

But there's still another distinction to being a ROADMASTER owner.

It marks you as one who buys wisely and well. Size for size, pound for pound, feature for feature, few cars can even approach what your dollars will buy in this finest of Buicks.

There's much more to be discovered by a visit to any Buick dealer's showroom.

There's the sumptuous softness of cushions, the custom excellence of fabrics and interior trim, the grace and charm of every line and contour.

So if you've dreamed of sometime owning a car superbly fine, there's no time like the present—and no car like ROADMASTER for making dreams come true.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Runt Hunt Contest Set Here by Feed Store April 23-28

Which way does the tail of a healthy pig curl? Clockwise, to the right, or counter-clockwise, to the left?

The Sunshine Feed Store, 118 West Paint Street, is asking farmers in this community to cast their votes on the subject all of next week, starting on Monday, in a special "Pig Tail" ballot box set up in the store. Each farmer casting a vote will receive a special "lucky pig" pocket piece.

It's all part of a plan to promote a National Runt Hunt, April 23-28, which will focus attention of farmers in this community as well as throughout the nation, on the problem of runt pigs and what to do about them.

Anyone who has ever had any experience with pigs knows that a healthy, hearty, well-doing pig has a well defined, characteristic curl in its tail. If a pig's tail hangs straight, it usually means the pig is unthrifty or runty. But there is a great controversy as to whether

According to Marion Cameron, manager of the store here, all owners of pigs in this community are urged to carefully observe and inspect their pigs, in order to note any that are not growing rapidly or are unthrifty in any way.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has predicted the 1951 spring pig crop will be one of the largest on record, about 63½ million head. Swine authorities estimate that generally 10 to 15 percent of all pigs farrowed in the U. S. may be classified as runts, with 20 to 25 percent more rated as unthrifty or slow-growers. At this rate there could be 20 or 25 million runty and slow-growing pigs on American farms this spring and summer.

During recent months startling new discoveries in swine nutrition have enabled research workers to develop powerful pig rations that literally "make hogs out of runts". These special feeds, fortified with Vitamin B12, commonly known as APF, Antibiotic Feed Supplement, plus other special high-potency ingredients, have been successful in making thrifty pigs out of more than 80 percent of runts and slow-growers—actually putting a "curl in the tail" of thousands of runts.

More insects may be found in a single square mile than there are people in the world, says the Book of Knowledge.

ACP Program Helps Farmers, Silcott Says

Family-sized Farms Benefited by Soil Conservation Plan

Provisions of the Agricultural Conservation Program to share the cost of soil and water conservation practices with the individual farmer are a boon to the operator of a family-sized farm, says Harry Silcott, chairman of the county PMA committee.

He points out that although the ACP is open to all farmers, there are a number of provisions which are especially helpful to those who operate a family-sized farm.

In the first place, says Silcott, sharing the cost of conservation makes it possible for the small farmer to protect his land against erosion and depletion.

Because of the greater yields that result, there is not as much need for the small farmer to "mine" his soil to make a living for his family.

Although the share of the cost may be comparatively small, it does give the small farmer the "ice hold" he needs to keep farming without constantly using up his farm so that each year finds his land poorer than the year before.

The provision in the program under which conservation materials and services are advanced to farmers makes it possible for many small farmers to carry out conservation practices which might otherwise be impossible. Without this provision, the chairman explains, the farmer would have to carry the full cost of the practices and then wait to be reimbursed for the ACP share, ordinarily about 50 percent of the out-of-pocket cost.

The chairman stresses also that the provision for increasing small payments so that the small farmer receives a little share of the cost of conservation practices also is helpful. This, he explains, makes it possible for small farmers to carry out conservation practices which would not be possible otherwise.

Teachers' Pay Hike

NORWALK, April 19.—A pay hike which will amount to $200 annually has been granted public school teachers here. All teachers effective next September, will receive a $100 cost-of-living bonus. Those making less than the salary schedule adopted last year get another $100 increase.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

McCall's Magazine Fail-Proof Recipe

1 9" baked pie shell Few grains salt
4 eggs 1/4 cup lemon juice
1 1/2 cups sugar (about 4 lemons)
5 tablespoons flour 1 1/4 cups boiling water
Here's a lemon meringue pie prettier than a cover girl!

Bake a 9" pie shell. Separate eggs and beat yolks until slightly foamy (save the whites for meringue). Stir 1 cup sugar into the beaten yolks very gradually, beating constantly.

Now stir in the flour and salt until smooth, then pour in lemon juice and mix thoroughly. Add the boiling water last. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until the filling is smooth and thick as mayonnaise (takes about 20 minutes). Cool before pouring into pie shell. If you're short of time, there are many quick and easy pie fillings on the shelves of your favorite market.

Start your oven at 325 F or slow and beat up the meringue like this: Beat egg white until they stand in peaks but are not dry-looking, then gradually beat in the remaining 1/2 cup of sugar until smooth and satiny (hard beating is one of the secrets for successful meringue). Pile meringue over filling carefully, making sure rim of pie is sealed with meringue, and bake 20 to 25 minutes or until meringue peaks are tipped with gold.

Russians Brag Of Production

LONDON, April 19 — (AP)—Russia told the world last night she has finished her second five year plan nine months ahead of schedule. She boasted topping her prewar production by 73 percent, instead of the 48 percent she aimed for.

In the major fields, however, her production still fell far short of the United States.

The announcement, by Moscow radio, trumpeted great gains in "the most important tasks of the plan"—but admitted shortcomings in other fields of production.

As usual, the Soviet announcement gave no figures on production, but dealt only in percentages. It compared 1950 with 1940.

Brehm on Trial

to rule out Mrs. Soliday's testimony on grounds she could not state that the money she turned back to Brehm was used for political purposes, as charged in the indictment.

"Unless she gave the money for political purposes her testimony is not relevant here," Rover argued. Ray Baker, an assistant U. S. attorney, told the court the government would produce evidence later to show that Brehm did use the money for political purposes. Judge Matthews denied Rover's motion.

In cross-examination, Rover sought to establish that Mell Underwood, Jr., Brehm's unsuccessful Democratic opponent in the last election, played an important role in the signing of Mrs. Soliday of an affidavit dealing with the alleged contributions.

The elderly widow said she and Underwood are "good friends." "Did you sign the affidavit at the request of Underwood?" Rover asked.

"Not exactly," Mrs. Soliday replied, adding that she signed the document "freely." She admitted, however, that she didn't read it before signing.

"I understood I was signing a paper saying I gave money to Mr. Brehm each month while I worked for him," she said.

In a suit filed last October in Lancaster, Ohio, Mrs. Soliday asked recovery of $7,340 which she said Brehm took from her pay over the three year period. She also asked $10,000 in damages.

Brehm has filed a counter suit, asking dismissal of Mrs. Soliday's action and $5,000 damages. He contended her suit was filed for political purposes. Both suits are pending.

Mrs. Soliday testified she left a treasury job and went to work for the congressman, whom she had known in Ohio, after he offered her a position.

She said she and Brehm talked on Jan. 10, 1945 -- her first working day--about her duties but there was no specific mention of salary.

"He said I was to draw my entire salary," Mrs. Soliday said, "that I was to cash it and to give him part of this money."

Asked whether anything was said about the purposes for such payments Mrs. Soliday said this was not discussed, adding:

"I supposed that was what I was worth."

She said she had received between $50 and $60 take home pay at the Treasury Department every two weeks and that she went on the Brehm payroll at $4,500 base pay annually.

In January, 1945, she drew $232 and paid Brehm $100, she said.

"Each time I received a raise, he got most of it," she added. In January 1948, Mr. Soliday said, "I was let out summarily."

Earlier in his opening statement, Mattice had said there was a "falling out" between Brehm and Mrs. Soliday in December, 1947.

The witness stated she gave Brehm $240 in December, 1947 and after she left his employ in January, 1948, she sent him another $240 out of that month's pay check. Mrs. Soliday said her son, Ray, delivered the money and she later got $100 of this back.

Two of the counts in the indictment against Brehm charge he received illegal contributions Dec. 23, 1947, and Feb. 3, 1948.

Mrs. Soliday said she went directly to Brehm and paid him the money after she cashed her check and that she usually put the money in an envelope. The payments, she added, were made in his "inner office."

When Brehm was in Ohio, she testified, she mailed payments to him in envelopes which he supplied and which he addressed.

Under questioning by Mattice, Mrs. Soliday told of once making a payment in Brehm's automobile parked next to the house of office building.

On that occasion, she said, she told him she had received a $40 a month pay raise and she hoped he might tell her to keep it but that Brehm said he had to "take" $240.

"As I was handing him the money," she related, "he said to keep it down under the dashboard because there are people looking out who can see."

Hal Boyle, famous Associated Press war correspondent and columnist, started as an office boy in the Kansas City office of The Associated Press.

Vandenberg Dies

Archibald Thompson, pastor, will officiate. The body will lie in state at the church chapel Saturday morning.

The place of burial has not been decided.

With the senator's death was disclosed a story of his self-sacrifice in the nation's interests. Dr. A. B. Smith, who cared for Vandenberg during the long illness, said complications of the sickness following the major surgery caused death.

But it was only after death that Vandenberg's family disclosed he had had a heart ailment for 25 years and that he postponed a necessary lung operation for close to a year—from the fall of 1948 to October, 1949.

Country Came First
He insisted, said his son, Arthur H. Vandenberg, Jr., that "his health was of far less importance

KILL 'EM WITH KINDNESS

SYNOPSIS
Detective Mack McGinnis is asked to investigate the murder of a woman named Frazier Farwell. The latter had for many years been a prostitute. McGinnis is asked to investigate the murder of a woman named Frazier Farwell. The latter had for many years been a prostitute.

CHAPTER FIVE
CHARY JONES whirled. He had a flash of nice legs and well-shaped ankles above sling-bag sandals. He flicked down the brownstone steps and disappeared westward toward Fifth Avenue and Central Park. The siren filled the night now and the leading headlights stabbed around the corner.

McGinnis closed the door quickly and stepped back. A moment ago he had been congratulating himself upon the eminently fair way in which he had handled matters. He had touched nothing, interfered not at all and promptly had notified New York police that they had a terrific murder on their hands.

Now at the very last instant, McGinnis had tampered with the natural course of events. He had advised Chary Jones to keep moving. Why? Half-regretfully, he hoped that it was because he did not wish to stand idly by and see a nice girl blunder into a top role in a murder investigation. Which was exactly what would have happened had he allowed her to step inside. Yes, that was why he had told Miss Jones to hit the road and not for home, either. They'd look for her there in a hurry. He'd wanted to give her a chance to keep her pretty little nose clean. . . he wanted to talk to her before anybody else did.

It was not, he assured himself, so that he could enjoy one bit of information the investigating officers would not know. Certainly not. A charge as false as it was malicious.

The front door practically jumped into the hallway under the crash of official fists. McGinnis took a deep breath. "J. Edgar Hoover be with me," he said, and opened it.

Deputy Chief Inspector Cornelius Patrick O'Callahan peered out from beneath a jutting brow that were like white cotton tufts pasted on a block of pink wood. He drummed with heavy square fingers on the desk of the late Ronnie Tompkins.

"The deceased," he asked McGinnis again, "mentioned no names?"

"No names, Inspector," McGinnis said to the seventh time. He heard the clock in the front hall chime the half hour and he looked at his watch—9:30. For almost three hours, this had been going on.

O'Callahan and his men had clamped a steel grip on the Tompkins residence within minutes of their arrival. Men had deployed everywhere with remarkable speed. Already, one had struck his head smartly on a basement girder, and a colleague had twisted his ankle on the roof.

But these minor mishaps detracted not a bit from a smooth display of efficiency. The official police photographers had photographed the body from at least nine different angles. Fingerprint men had dusted every conceivable surface of the study and adjoining art gallery. One had picked up the pistol near the open window by using a thin steel rod into the barrel, not touching the weapon itself with his hands. He had snared the ejected shell than his attention to the affairs of government."

At Vandenberg's bedside when death came were the son, who flew from his Rockefeller Foundation post in Brazil to be with his father in his last weeks, and two daughters, Mrs. John Bailey and Mrs. Elizabeth Pfeiffer, both of Grand Rapids. The three are the senator's only immediate survivors. His wife, the former Hazel Whitaker, died in Washington in June, 1950.

Michigan's one-time isolationist who made the jump all the way to genuine internationalism was mourned by Republican and Democratic leaders alike.

Sen. Connally of Texas, Democratic head of the foreign relations committee, said Vandenberg "rendered distinguished service to the nation in the cause of international peace and international cooperation—the nation has suffered a great loss."

His Republican colleague from Michigan, Sen. Ferguson, said Vandenberg "leaves us at a time when his statesmanship, his wisdom and his leadership would have been of such infinite value to the Senate."

Fire Dept. in Bloomingburg Now Organized

Volunteers Train
Each Tuesday at Town Engine House

The Bloomingburg Volunteer Fire Department was formally organized this week. It includes members from Bloomingburg, Paint and Marion Townships, or the area protected by the equipment housed in the village.

With exception of a president of the group (who is to be named soon), the volunteer department is composed of the following: Lewis B. Evans, vice-president; Arthur D. Engle, secretary; Clark Thompson, treasurer; Melbourne Barney, William C. Boyd, John V. Cannon, Clyde B. Cramer, Clyde B. Cramer, Jr., Charles Cunningham, Warden B. Elliott, Robert E. Huff, Leonard J. Jones, Delbert Looker, Carl Mann, Lawrence Mickie, Edgar McFadden, Charles McCoy, Harold McConaughy, Omar Rapp, Roger Rapp, Frank Slager, Alfred Storer and Gordon Cowdry.

The group has been training in basic fire fighting for the past three weeks, under the direction of M. J. Lanter, of the state fire marshal's office.

There is much interest and enthusiasm among the members of the department.

Classes are held each Tuesday at 7:30 P. M. at the Bloomingburg fire engine house.

There is room for, and the department will welcome more men, it is pointed out by officials of the department.

The fire fighting equipment is jointly owned by the village of Bloomingburg, Paint and Marion townships, and is to furnish protection in that area.

A fire siren which can be heard over a wide area has been installed on the engine house. Points of control will be announced as soon as wiring is completed.

The goal of the department is an organized, well trained and efficient fire fighting unit that can respond quickly to any fire alarm and know what to do upon reaching the fire.

The full cooperation of every property owner in the area is asked by the department.

The Ohio Inspection Bureau has set certain requirements to be met for a lower insurance rate, and a well trained group of fire fighters is one of them.

Ohio Roads Topic At FB Meeting

"Making Ohio Roads Modern" was the topic discussed at a meeting of Union Township Farm Bureau Council No. 4 held Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie McWilliams on the Circleville Road.

A letter was read from the Farm Bureau concerning the County Fair horticultural exhibits, and it was decided that Mrs. John Rowland would represent the council at a meeting to be held on the exhibits April 23 at the Farm Bureau.

Joseph McFadden led the discussion on "Making Ohio Roads Modern."

Mrs. Gerald Stephenson presented a report on the Scissors Sisters 4-H club project for community improvement. The project included the improvement of farms.

Gerald Stephenson was the chairman in the absence of Martin Croone.

Guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Parrett, Mrs. Anna McFadden and 10 children.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson furnished the entertainment. Refreshments were served.

New Division Engineer Former Fayette Man

Earle L. Shely, who was named division engineer of Division Six, Ohio State Highway Department this week, is a former Fayette County resident.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Shely of the Devalon Road, and has been in Federal and State government service for many years.

Division Six includes Fayette, Pickaway, Franklin, Delaware, Marion, Madison and Union counties.

Shely lives at New Rome, and took over his new duties this week.

He was formerly with the state highway department for a number of years and also saw service in the First World War.

Short Circuit Cause Of Fire Wednesday

Fire, which started from a short circuit and which was extinguished with a bucket of water, occurred at 8:35 P. M. Wednesday at 213 East Temple Street, in a house owned by M. C. Ortman.

Firemen said damage was very light.

OFFERED CHIEF'S JOB

OXFORD—A new fire chief is to be named to supplant Chief Paul Flanagan, who, with 11 volunteers, resigned after council refused to purchase a fire truck recommended by Flanagan.

A surprise is provided at each hymn sing. The series have been very popular with the congregation.

Mrs. Van Dine New PTA Head

One-act Play Is Presented to Group

Mrs. Richard Van Dine is the new president of the Madison Mills Parent Teachers Association.

She was elected at a meeting held Wednesday night at the Madison Mills High School. Other officers picked were: vice president, Mrs. Carlton Belt; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Pearl Breakfield.

Members of the PTA decided to serve at the alumni banquet to be held at the high school May 26.

A discussion was held relative to the PTA backing the formation of a cub scout troop. The discussion will carry over until the next meeting.

Mrs. Glenn Hidy presented a copy of "Introduction to Birds," donated by the garden clubs.

Mrs. Forrest Fry presented the slate of candidates, which the PTA voted upon.

A short one-act play entitled, "What, No Vacation?" was presented as a "take off" on pupils. Mrs. Delmar Mowery acted the part of the teacher, while the teachers at the high school took parts as the pupils.

Xylophone music was provided by Mrs. Dorothy Giebelhouse. Mrs. Pearl Brakefield presented a vocal solo.

A quartet, consisting of Mrs. Cecil VanZant, Mrs. Pearl Brakefield, Mrs. Dorothy Giebelhouse and Mrs. Price Neff, sang. They were accompanied by Charles Ruhl.

Mrs. Jess Schlichter, president.

Members of the refreshment committee were: Mrs. Paul Hay-slip, Mrs. Lawrence Grim, Mrs. Milford Barker, Mrs. Allen Ruth, Mrs. Delmar Mowery and Mrs. Jess Schlichter.

MacArthur Denies Political Intention

Harry H. Vaughan, the lone White House representative, was almost lost in the shoulder decorations.

Vaughn snapped a sharp salute as the deposed Far East commander stepped from his plane.

General MacArthur returned the salute and said: "I'm glad to see you, Harry".

"Glad to see you, sir," Vaughan responded. Then, pushing his way through the milling crowd of dignitaries and newsmen ahead of MacArthur, he remarked:

"Well, that was simple."

Mr. Truman, determined to be pleasant about the MacArthur visitation, turned away at yesterday's news conference all direct questions about a possible meeting with the general. The president said if the former Pacific commander wants to talk to him, the general will have to ask for the conference.

Before he left San Francisco amid a thunderous ovation on the eastward flight of eight hours, seven minutes, MacArthur declared he had no political ambitions. He added he hopes his name "will never be used in a political way."

Mac Arthur's pronouncement, given almost casually, climaxed a roaring San Francisco welcome to the general, who had stepped on the American continent for the first time since 1937 when he came back to marry his present wife. Their 13-year-old son, Arthur, accompanies them.

The general, his five stars gleaming on his shoulders, told a massed San Francisco crowd:

"I have just been asked if I intended to enter politics. My reply was 'No'.

"I have no political aspirations whatsoever. I do not intend to run for any political office and I hope my name will never be used in a political way. The only politics I have is contained in a simple phrase known well by all of you—God Bless America."

Two Are Hurt In Motor Crash

Accident Occurs on East Temple Street

Two persons were injured in a collision between an automobile and a motorbike on East Temple Street, at 6 P. M. Wednesday.

The accident occurred while Robert Bailey, 16, of Harrison Street, was riding eastward on a motorbike, and attempted to make a turn into an alley in front of a car driven by Ben Jamison, New Holland, which also was headed eastward.

With Bailey on the motorbike was Henry Seymour, 46, of Peabody Avenue.

Bailey and Seymour were both taken to Memorial Hospital in the police cruiser.

It was found that both were painfully but not seriously injured. They sustained severe bruises.

Police said Bailey told them he signaled a left turn. Jamison told police that he saw no signal and did not know the motorbike was going to make a turn until too late to prevent colliding with it.

The Republican floor leader who was on hand at National Airport to greet the general and his party, said MacArthur's disclaimer should remove political considerations from efforts of the general "to help us determine a global defense policy for this country and all of the free peoples of the world."

Senator Taft of Ohio, a possible 1952 Republican presidential candidate, was obviously pleased by the general's statement but declined comment.
